Floating interest rate on Housing Finance

†2224. SHRI DARA SINGH CHAUHAN:
SHRI ABU ASIM AZMI:

Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state:

†Original notice of the question was received in Hindi.

(a) whether the benefit of the floating interest rate by the Housing Finance Companies is not being provided to the borrowers to whom they had given the assurance for the same;

(b) whether it is a fact that for providing the said benefit these companies are collecting the additional money from the borrowers which is not amongst the loan-conditions; and

(c) the extent of loans provided by SBI, HDFC, ICICI on the floating interest rate alongwith the earning through the collection of additional money from the public?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI ANANDRAO VITHOBA ADSUL): (a) and (b) According to the information available with National Housing Bank, most of the Housing Finance Companies (HFCs) are passing on the benefit of reduced rate of interest to the customers who had availed loans on floating rate without levying any fee/charge. In certain cases, few companies obtain a rate revision charge as a percentage of outstanding loan amounts to cover administrative costs, which is as per the loan agreement with customers being fully aware of the same. However, in case the customers who had availed fixed rate loans and subsequently desire to switch over to floating rate option, most of the HFCs are charging a conversion fee as per the loan agreement with the customer.

(c) NHB has reported that during the year ended September 30, 2003, of the total housing loan of Housing Development Finance Corporation (HDFC), 94% were floating rate loans. The floating rate housing loan portfolio in State Bank of India is Rs. 10,600 crore and no fee is being recovered for extending the benefit of revision of interest rates. ICICI Home Finance has reported that most of the loans currently being availed by the borrowers are on floating rates and no fee/charges are being collected from the customers for rate revision.
